Crystal Dairy Wins Prizes At Can. National Exhibition

Once again the Crystal Dairy Ltd. at Didsbury has competed with producers of fine quality butter from all across the Dominion and has come out on top.

A recent announcement of the butter prize winners at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto gives the Crystal Dairy Ltd., Didsbury, first prize for its entry of 14 pound print, and second prize for its 10-pound print.

The local creamery also had butter entries in the Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa and again was among the top prize winners, receiving a second prize for 14 pound print and another second for 10-pound print.

In communication with the manager of Crystal Dairy Ltd. at Didsbury, Mr. J.W. Wordie, the Pioneer learned that the local creamery also had entries at the Exhibition at London, England, but to date no announcement of prize awards has been made.

Joyce Archer Wins Gr. 9 Scholarship

Joyce Marguerite Archer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Archer of the Didsbury district, received word last week that she had been awarded one of the Home and School Association scholarships for highest standing in Grade 9 for schools having two or less teachers.

Joyce, who is 11 years of age, has been a pupil of the Gore school, east of Didsbury, ever since she started school, and her teacher of recent years has been Mrs. H. Booker of Didsbury.

This year Joyce is staying in town with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Archer, and is taking her Grade 10 at Didsbury High School.

NOT SMALL POTATOES

Now that the annual harvest of garden vegetables is taking place, most residents are reporting on the size of their potatoes, and some good-sized spuds have been brought into the Pioneer office this past week.

Reg. Brooker brought in one potato that weighed 13 ozs. George Dippel had a larger one that topped the scales at 3 lbs., 4 ozs. but Mrs. Albert Schneidmiller, while not having the largest potato so far recorded, made up in quantity, with a 14-lb. bag containing ten potatoes, which weighed 18 lbs. The two largest weighed 2 pounds each.

DVA Advises Vets Against Moving to the Pacific Coast

DVA district administrator J. Sutton has issued a strong warning to southern Alberta veterans against moving to the Pacific Coast in search of employment.

"When the first war ended, a great many veterans, lured by talk of high wages and a more temperate climate requested to be discharged in British Columbia. Since then, hundreds have trekked west under their own steam. This migration, together with the exodus of the war years of thousands of civilian workers from other parts of Canada to work in B.C. war plants, has created in that province a very overcrowded labor market. At present, the odds of getting a job there are about four to one against," Mr. Sutton stated.

Latest BC National Employment Service figures show that although there are approximately 4500 jobs available, there are over 18,500 un-

Trev Evans Heads Senior Hockey Club

With a good crowd of players and interested supporters on hand the Didsbury Senior Hockey Club reorganized for the 1948-49 season at a meeting held in the Arena Friday evening, September 17. Trev Evans was again elected to head the organization for the coming season, and Lloyd Jenkins was re-elected as secretary-treasurer. Bill Payne was elected to act as vice-president.

The executive committee will consist of the club officers, Howard Halliday and Club Scott. Howard Halliday is chairman of the transportation committee, and will be assisted by Emil Dupont Jr. and Art Reiber. The appointment of a coach was left in the hands of the executive.

Arrangements to enter a team in a league were temporarily tabled but a decision was reached that exhibition games be played in the Arena on Saturday evenings and teams from Calgary and other provincial points will be contacted for these games.

AT LEAST WERE FAMOUS FOR WIND (Macleod Gazette)

One of our late lamented citizens called The Gazette to time several years ago for making a story about the wind in Macleod. He didn't feel it was good publicity.

Which reminds that every worthwhile city or town is famous for something. A radio quiz some time ago in the States posed the question—what is the windiest place on the North American continent? The answer given by the contestant was—Chicago.

"You're wrong," said the quizmaster, "it's a little town up in Canada named Macleod."

Local Fishermen Catch Big Lochs at The North Raven

The fall season is producing big fish in the territory along the mountains, and last week some large trout were weighed in at Kirby's Meat Market by members of the Didsbury Fish and Game Association.

Charlie Mortimer and son, Bob, were up on the North Raven last Thursday and came back with a number of Loch Leaven trout, including four big ones, the largest of which weighed 3 lbs., 9 ozs. Jack Nicolich was up to this same stream over the week end and the largest of his fish weighed 3 lbs., 6 ozs.

Some large pike have also been weighed in by local game association members, and Arnold Radley's entry of 7 lbs., 1 ozs. is the largest pike so far recorded. It was caught in the Little Red Deer river west of Didsbury.

DONALD STILES ONLY 16, BUT ATTENDING UNIVERSITY

Donald Stiles left Sunday to attend University of Alberta at Edmonton, where he plans to take the Honors Physics course.

Donald, who is just 16 years of age, passed his grade 12 this past term with an average of 82 per cent. Donald has brought additional honors to the Didsbury district and no doubt will take his place among the first class students at University.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stiles of the Gore school district.

John Coates New Theatre Manager

A change took place in the management of the local theatre this week and the new manager at Didsbury is Mr. John Coates, who arrived over the week end. Dave Walters, the former operator, has gone to Inglewood to assume the management of the Royal Theatre, which is also on the Shibley's Theatre Circuit.

Mr. Coates is not a newcomer to Didsbury, having operated the theatre here about 16 years ago for Mr. Sharp. He has purchased the Dave Walters house and Mr. and Mrs. Coates moved in this week.

CHEATS CUSTOMERS WITH ELECTRIC FAN

The electric fan in Edward Berens' butcher shop in Los Angeles wasn't used exactly for cooling him or the meat he tossed on the scales.

Berens, 60, pleaded guilty to short-weighting a customer. The bureau of weights and measures charged that the butcher trained his fan on the sensitive scales and the air stream depressed the scales.

Electricity is cheaper than meat, but Berens must pay a $150 fine or go to jail for 30 days.

Mr. and Mrs. J.V. Berscht left Tuesday to spend a few days at Banff.

U. S. S. R. Seeks Information Through Canadian 'Pen Pals'

The Canadian Department of External Affairs has warned Canadians against sending views and pictures to pen pals when they may have corresponded with in Soviet-dominated areas of Europe.

It has been disclosed that a man in Vienna has written to Canadian outposts of the Arctic asking for exchange of harbor views of northern harbors for pictures of Vienna. Requests have come in from Soviet occupied centres for road maps and tourist information and for Canadian telephone books. A source of information would be through pen pals exchanging pictures. Unwittingly much information might be disclosed.

Washington has issued similar warning to American people to watch carefully all information or pictures which they may be asked to send to countries under Soviet domination. The pen pals may prove to be Soviet espionage agents. There have been scattered residents along Baifu islands in the north who have been invited to correspond with people in the Soviet zone. Investigation has shown that an attempt has been made to blanket the Arctic area. The postcards have asked for pictures of harbors and rugged coast lines in return for pictures of cathedrals. The language used in their requests were similar in almost all instances. There have also been very curious questions asked respecting big industrial centres.

Office Boy: Yes, sir.
Boss: Then everything is in order. After you had gone for the afternoon to bury your grandfather, he came in here to see you.

Macpherson joined a golf club and was told by the professional that if his name was on his golf balls and they were lost, they would be returned to him when found.

"That's fine," said the Scot. "Put my name on this one."
The professional complied, and as he was putting the finishing touches to the job the new member asked: "Would you mind putting M.D. after the name? You see, I'm a doctor."
"Certainly," said the professional. "Oh, one more thing," he was asked, "can ye squeeze 'hours 10 to 3' on as well."

The barber had cut him, nicked him and gashed him. "Give me a glass of water," said the victim. "You aren't going to faint, I hope," said the barber in alarm. "No," replied the victim. "I just want to see if my mouth will hold water."

The family and the dinner guest had seated themselves at the table. "Betty," said the mother, "why on earth didn't you put a knife and fork at Mr. White's place?"
"He doesn't need them," replied Betty. "Daddy says he eats like a horse."

"Call the manager, I never saw anything as tough as this steak."
"You will, sir," replied the waiter. "If I call the manager."

Cattle-Raiding Grizzly Trapped Near Cochrane

A bullet in the head ended the career Saturday of a huge grizzly bear, believed to have been the one that for six months has been raiding cattle herds around Cochrane.

The 700-pound animal was killed by George Copithorne, who ranches 17 miles southwest of Cochrane, after it was caught in steel bear trap near one of its recent kills.

"We hope it was the one that has been killing our stock," said Mr. Copithorne. If it is he stands to collect about $700 in rewards offered by ranchers in the area for the hide of the raider.

Mr. Copithorne himself has lost two cattle that he knows of, besides the one that led to the bear's down fall.

The last victim, a yearling steer, was discovered last week by Mr. Copithorne five miles west of his ranch house in heavily-wooded foothills. The animal apparently had been pulled down only a few hours before. Its head was battered, its carcass torn, the heart and stomach removed and its hindquarters partly devoured.

Mr. Copithorne went back to the ranch, got a big steel bear trap and returned to the spot. Putting some of the meat from the dead steer in the trap for bait, he concealed it under an improved shelter near the carcass.

Early last Friday the bear returned for another feast, but it side-stepped the trap. The grizzly was back for more Saturday morning and reached for the meat in the trap. The steel jaws clamped shut on one of the animal's paws.

Mr. Copithorne found the bear Saturday morning and finished it off with a .300 Savage rifle. He said the bear was quiet as it stood helplessly in the trap.

Assisted by ranch hands Mr. Copithorne loaded the animal on to a trailer and pulled it back to the ranch house. He cut off the head for mounting and hauled the carcass back into the foothills for disposal. "He weighed between 700 and 800 pounds," Mr. Copithorne said, "and he was very fat." The coat had a golden tinge to it.

The bear had been hunted by ranchers and sportsmen on land and from the air since its raids started several months ago. After each prior killing, the bear vanished without leaving a clue to its whereabouts.

The Copithorne ranch extends into rugged country covered with a heavy growth of spruce trees where it would have been easy for the bear to lurk undisturbed.

SEEK NEW WHEAT MARKET

George McIvor, chief commissioner to the Canadian Wheat Board, sailed recently for Europe to seek new markets for Canadian wheat. He will discuss food problems with the British Food Ministry and will consult with European Recovery Program officials on the European market situation. It is likely that Mr. McIvor will seek to evaluate the chances of an Anglo-Russian grain deal and its effect on the British attitude toward Canadian wheat.

It appears that Canada will have about 220,000,000 bushels of wheat for export this year, as against 198,000,000 last year. Of this total the United Kingdom will take 110,000,000 bushels under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement, as compared with 160,000,000 last year. As a result Canada will have approximately 80,000,000 bushels for sale in the general market at world prices, compared to only 38,000,000 a year ago.

FARMERS' INCOME SHOWS INCREASE

Cash income of Canadian farmers in the first half of the year 1948 has been much larger than in previous years, being more than a third higher than in 1946 and reaching $880,722,000 so far in 1948.

Part of the increase in income is due to the sums paid out in Western Canada by the Canadian Wheat Board in adjusting, participation and final equalization payments on wheat, flaxseed and oats. During the period, being considered, $123,000,000 were applied in wheat adjusting and participation payments.

But smaller marketings of grain have been recorded during the first 6 months of this year. Livestock and its products were important in contributing to the increased farmers' receipts. The quantity increased but slightly; the price increased more. Cash income from livestock during the first half of 1948 was $626,000,000 and of 1947, $450,000,000.

But these figures must not be taken as representative of the actual farmers' income, that is purchasing ability. The increasing prices for farm goods are responsible for a share of the increase. And as the price of the goods he sells increase, so do the prices of most of the commodities he buys. The actual improvement in consuming ability, then, will be somewhat less than is indicated by these figures.

Automatic Shotguns Must Be Plugged

Confusion in the public mind as a result of a recent release from Ottawa has prompted the Hon. N.E. Tanner to remind hunters that the automatic shotgun still is an illegal weapon in Alberta for shooting migratory game birds.

Migratory bird regulations released recently contained a clause requiring that shotguns be plugged so not more than three shells could be held in the magazine and chamber combined. The regulations do not legalize use of automatic shotguns which is prohibited under Section 45 of the Alberta Game Act. What they did was provide for the plugging of pump guns which are legal in Alberta.

While it is the intention of the Game Branch to enforce plugging of pump guns for shooting migratory birds it is brought to public attention that shooting of upland game birds with an unplugged pump gun is still permitted.

Government As Good As We Will Tolerate It

We Canadians get as good government as we deserve, probably as good as we want, certainly as good as we will tolerate. Being imperfect people, wedded to our idols, we will not long support a government that has none of our own weaknesses. A government that depends on popular support cannot rise much higher than the people it governs.

The aim of all democratic governments is to give the people what they want. If the people are wise and demand what is best for the country, the government will be happy to give it to them. But if the people prefer to chase rainbows to do many foolish things, the government will do its best to oblige them.

Public opinion, or what the government conceived to be public opinion, has forced our government to do many foolish things. The totally unprepared condition in which the war found us, the scandalous treatment we gave our fellow Canadians of Japanese origin, the deplorable lack of law enforcement in recent labor disputes, were all forced on us by the apathy of the majority of the people, which allowed clamorous minorities to create the impression that they were the voice of public opinion, and the government yielded to their demands.—John Atkins "The Scene."

Tragedy And Triumph In The Woods

Windling furiously, the spider hauled in his gossamer line as he fought with a caterpillar and hoisted it from the ground toward his web in a branch twenty feet above. The straggling worm swung like a pendulum in the breeze which stirred in the green tower walled by cedar and hemlocks.

Gaining a little at a time, losing a bit now and then, recovering and reaching higher, quelling his captive, the spider gained height second by second, minute by minute, hanging vulnerable to any bird which might chance by. Accepting his peril, the hunter never faltered until he reached his game in a gossamer coil in the corner of his lair and sought safety out of sight to rest from his struggle.

The sighing of the light wind in the trees, the lapping of the water on the beach, shadows, sunshine, and hazy clouds, formed the music and the scenery for the miniature presentation of the cosmic drama. Searching for the meaning of such microcosms, men have been given and have found all that they need, have caught glimpses of the significance of what they are, and what they might be, and have sensed a just and perfect scheme behind and above the joys and sufferings of life and death.

Spiderlike, animal men weave their webs, enmesh their victims, gain fleeting supremacy, rejecting belief in a life transcending instincts, which flows through and beyond the incidents of growth which seem to them to be the beginning and the end.

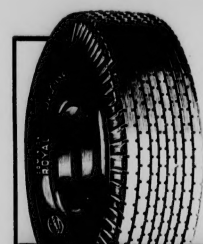

The breeze quickened, the little clouds hurried on, the earth turned slowly from the sun, the shadows grew in the woods, and the spider rested after conquest. Out of space a voice brought the day's news of the age-long conflict between the conceptions of man the animal and man the spiritual being. The never-setting sun blazed in triumph as the earth darkened.—The Scene.

DOMINION ROYAL TIRES

HIG RYE, FLAX CROPS

The combined output of fall and spring rye for Canada from the 1948 crop is estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at 26.3 million bushels, nearly double that of 1947. The Canadian rye crop is currently estimated to be only exceeded by the 1922 crop which reached 32.1 million bushels.

A near-record 1948 Canadian flax seed crop of 18 million bushels from 1.9 million seeded acres is also forecast. Last year the return was 12.2 million bushels, while the largest flaxseed crop previously harvested in Canada was one of 26.1 million bushels in 1912.

WILL DIDSBURY
 MISS THE BOAT?

Once again the Didsbury area has come through with a good crop and it all goes well this crop should be safely garnered within the next three weeks or so. Which all goes to prove that this area is, especially suited to farming, and mixed farming seems to be the general rule of most of our land owners.

Recent announcements from the Eastern exhibitors have shown that our local creamery, Crystal Dairy Ltd., has placed among the top prize winners for butter making in Canada. This also proves that the Didsbury district can produce quality cream and that this area is tops in the dairy industry.

This district is noted as the best dairy area in Alberta. It has prize herds of purebred Jersey, Holstein, Guernsey, Shorthorn and Hereford cattle.

But the fine crops, the excellent herds and the most up-to-date creamery of any town in Alberta is not all that we have. The Neapolis Cheese Factory east of town processes millions of pounds of milk each year. The Rosebud Flour Mills turns out pancake flour for every province in the Dominion, and has milled wheat for several years for many European countries and the Orient as well as the domestic market. We have modern schools, hospital, ice arena, and the town has the central offices for the Municipal District of Mountain View, the Olds School Division and the Rosebud Health Unit. Our district, while cut off on the north by the progressive town of Olds, takes in territory 25 miles to the east, goes west 75 miles to the Canadian Rockies, and is the trading town for families as far south as Crossfield. What more could we ask, one might say. Our stores and business places seem to be doing a good business and the people generally are prosperous.

And that seems to be the root of our folly—this general prosperity. What are we doing with it? Are we paving the way to future prosperity, or are we settling down to laced methods of business which will eventually put us in a rut from which we cannot recuperate when the wave of prosperity has passed.

Right now is the time for Didsbury business men to plan for the future. To continue to carry goods and give services that the people of our district want and need, and can afford to buy. To build our businesses so that they will take care of the needs of this town with its 1100 people, and to take care of the people when the population grows to 1500. Which it surely will if we have the courage and the conviction to make it so.

We have everything to make a real prosperous town, but the townspeople themselves must take the initiative. We will have to improve our streets, increase our fire protection, encourage new business, and new home building. And there is only one way to do the latter, and that is to make sure that the Town of Didsbury is served by an adequate water and sewerage system, and to see that it is down now—not five, not ten years from now, but just as soon as it is possible to let the contracts and get in the contractors. It will, of course be necessary to gain vote on the plan due to increased costs, but there shouldn't be a single dissenting vote on the question. The water users will pay for the debentures and the interest as it falls due, and those who do not have the water have only one salvation from increasing taxes—and that is more buildings, more homes on the town assessment roll. And the only way we can induce future home owners to build is to give them modern facilities for their homes.

Didsbury will surely miss the boat if it doesn't wake up now and plan for the future. Let's all get out and work for the good of the town and its future prosperity. Let us all start pulling and pushing for the immediate installation of water and sewerage in Didsbury.

BUILD FOR THE BLIND

The above architectural drawing is a sketch of the new Canadian National Institute for the Blind Centre which is now under construction in the city of Calgary.

This beautiful building will materially serve over four hundred blind persons in central and southern Alberta. This year the annual drive is of necessity a capital fund raising campaign. The building will cost approximately $200,000 and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind officials have a deficit of almost $75,000.00. The current drive which will soon be carried out in all country districts under the sponsorship of some local organization will provide individuals with the opportunity of subscribing to this very worthy cause.

In the very near future a canvasser will call at your home or place of business, and this canvasser has volunteered to assist the C.N.I.B. In the event that a canvasser does not call you are asked to forward your donation to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Old Court House Building, Calgary, and an official receipt for income tax exemptions will be immediately mailed to you.

Help the Blind to help themselves, and help the one organization that assists all blind persons to build a better tomorrow for the blind of today.

Quota System For Grains In Alberta

Ten bushels per seeded acre, only, may be delivered to elevators in Alberta, as the first installment of the quota system of the Canadian Wheat Board.

Some points are exempted, but the ruling applies generally throughout Alberta. Elevators are authorized to accept no more wheat, oats or barley than 10 bushels per acre and delivery permits will be checked before delivery of grain to elevators.

Add Tourist Route For South Alberta Roads

Another new highway link, which will serve U.S. tourists is to be built by the Alberta government, according to information received by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

This is in the southeastern part of the province and is a 43 mile highway running from Elkwater Lake to the U.S. boundary at Wildhorse. It is estimated to cost $204,000 under the terms of the grading contract.

For many years there has been strong agitation for the construction of this road, various interests having urged that it was essential to provide more tourist routes for U.S. visitors to Alberta.

Also just announced is government plans for the construction of three new highway bridges, estimated to cost more than $500,000. One will be in the Peace River country. It will be at Goodwin Crossing across the Smoky River in the Grand Prairie area and will eliminate a ferry on this route to the connection with the Alaska highway at Dawson Creek, B.C.

The other bridges will be at Empress where the original bridge built 30 years ago was washed out in 1936, and south of Cluny, replacing a structure washed out by flood waters this year.

CCF's Blunt Warning

If Canadians ever allow the CCF party to take over power at Ottawa, they know now exactly what is in store for them, states The Financial Post. There are no ifs or buts about the platform approved at Winnipeg last week. There are no suggestions for careful investigation of realities and probabilities to be followed by possible action. Here is a straight one, two, three proposition.

In one way and another the program would give the CCF direct, permanent and absolute control over all production, distribution and consumption and over the lives and savings of all people engaged in those activities. That means revolution and the regimentation of an entire people by a political party.

The French government has reduced the flour extraction rate of wheat from 98 to 90 percent. The extraction rate in Great Britain and the Netherlands is 85 percent, and in Canada it is 72 percent.

ERGOT IN SEED AND FEED

There is quite a lot of Ergot in the rye and even in the wheat and barley this year and few people seem to know much about it. The following article sent in by Mr. Hugh McPhail, district agriculturist, may be of interest to many local farmers.

Ergot is one of the most common and important diseases of rye. It also occurs in barley and wheat but rarely in oats. Grasses such as slender wheat, quick grass, brome, and timothy are also susceptible. It is caused by a fungus (Claviceps purpurea) and can be identified by large purplish black bodies called sclerotia which develop in place of the kernels. The loss in yield from ergot results not only from the replacement of normal kernels by the ergot bodies, but also from the fact that many flowers which do not develop the black ergot bodies, are blighted by the fungus and thus also fail to form kernels. Further losses occur through lower prices being paid for grain containing ergot and through its poisonous effect on livestock.

ERGOT A POISON

It is important that livestock feeders recognize the poisonous qualities of ergot and have some idea of how much should be tolerated in feeds. Ergot has caused abortion in livestock as well as the disease known as ergotism. As little as 0.15 per cent ergot in rye has been known to cause this disease. Ergotism may be very serious and is marked in the early stages by irritation and pain in the extremities of the body and later by a dry gangrene or mummification of tail, ears and perhaps feet. Cattle and horses are most susceptible to the injurious effects of ergot.

Feeders should aim to avoid ergot entirely, especially with pregnant females. Certainly any grain containing 0.1 per cent or more of ergot material should be considered dangerous. If such feed must be fed the amount of ergot can be reduced by the use of the fanning mill and mixing the diseased grain with other grain that is free of ergot.

SOURCE OF ERGOT INFECTION

The black ergot bodies provide the means by which the fungus lives through the winter and so is carried from one crop to the next. They either fall to the ground before the grain is taken off the field or remain in the heads and are threshed with the grain. If a field is sown with the infested grain or if it has been sprinkled with ergot from the previous year's crop, the field is virtually seeded down with the ergot organism. Under such circumstances a susceptible crop is almost certain to develop ergot. Another very important source of infection is from infested grass around the outside of a field. Infection takes place when the grain is in the flowering stage. This comes from spores discharged by tiny mushroom-like structures which develop from the ergot bodies. The infection is spread from one head to another by insects.

Weather conditions determine to a great extent how severe the disease will be and to what extent it will spread. An abundant supply of moisture results in better germination of the ergot bodies, while dry, warm weather seems to be most favorable for the spread of the disease at blossoming time.

CONTROL OF ERGOT

Three important control measures should be practised:

1. Grass margins or field edges must be mowed prior to the flowering period of the grain.
2. Ergot resistant crops such as oats and legumes should be rotated with rye or other susceptible crops.
3. Ergot-free seed should be planted.

The small and broken ergot bodies that cannot be removed with a fanning mill can be taken out by hand-picking, if a small quantity is being cleaned, or by floating them in a 20 to 30 per cent salt solution. Two pounds of salt per imperial gallon of water will make a 20 per cent solution. The seed should be stirred thoroughly to float the ergot bodies. Follow this by rinsing thoroughly with ordinary water so as to wash the salt out of the rye, then spread to dry.

Deep plowing following a diseased crop, in order to bury the sclerotia which have fallen on the ground, will prevent most of them from germinating the next season. Another precaution that should be followed is that of mowing the wild grasses, especially wheat and rye grasses, surrounding the grain field, just before they blossom, as ergot spreads from certain of these grasses to rye and other grain crops.

No Fisherman Tries Just One Cast

Nobody expects to reel in a trout the first time he casts his fly. The good fisherman makes sure he has something the fish will take, picks out what should be the best spot and then makes one cast after another. Usually his patience is rewarded with a good catch to take home.

IT'S THE SAME WAY WITH ADVERTISING

The wise merchant doesn't expect to reap a big harvest of customers on the first ad. Rather, he makes sure he is advertising something the people want, checks to see what paper reaches the most readers who have money to buy and reaches them with the news they most want to read, and then runs a carefully planned series of attractive ads. This wise merchant knows that only a series of casts will catch the fish, that only steady advertising will put him first in the mind of all prospective customers.

First Aid Hints for SPRAINS and STRAINS

SPRAINS:

When, by sudden wrench or twist, the ligaments and the parts around a joint are stretched or torn, the joint is said to be sprained.

SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS:

1. Pain at the joint
2. Inability to use the joint without increasing pain.
3. Swelling and, later, discoloration.

TREATMENT:

1. Place the limb in the most comfortable position and prevent any movement.
2. Expose the joint and apply a firm bandage.
3. Wet the bandage with cold water and keep it wet.
4. When this ceases to give relief, take the bandage off and re-apply it.

In all doubtful cases treat as a fracture.

STRAINS AND RUPTURED MUSCLES:

When, during severe exertion, muscles or tendons are over-stretched they are said to be strained; or, if they are actually torn, they are described as ruptured. A so-called strain in the groin (thornia) is an injury of a totally different nature.

SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS:

1. A sudden sharp pain at the seat of injury.
2. When the muscles of a limb are strained they may swell and cause severe cramp.
3. Further exertion is difficult or impossible; for example, if the strain has occurred in the back the patient may be unable to stand upright.

TREATMENT:

1. Place the patient in the most comfortable position, and afford support to the injured part.
2. Apply a hot compress.

USE OF NITROGEN FERTILIZER

Canadian consumption of nitrogen fertilizer has increased from some 11,000 tons in 1910 to about 27,000 tons in 1947. On a population and crop acreage basis Canada still uses relatively little nitrogen as compared with some countries. About 90 per cent of it is used as an ingredient of mixed fertilizers and five per cent for side dressing, mainly for leafy vegetable crops. The estimated tonnage of nitrogen for fertilizer materials for all fertilizer purposes used in the trade year ended July 1, 1948, was 127,318 tons.

With the exception of 10,250 tons of ammonium phosphate, about 90 per cent of the total was used in the five Eastern provinces and ten per cent in the Western provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Some 30,000 tons were used in the Prairie Provinces mainly for growing sugar beets and grain—principally resistant and certified seed grain. The demand for 11-18 ammonium phosphate in the Prairies has increased rapidly and there is still a shortage of this fertilizer for that part of Canada, as well as drill attachments for applying it.

ARGENTINE GRAIN

The President of the Argentine Economic Council has announced that the entire 1948 wheat crop has been sold. In March, 1948, export wheat stocks were set at 11 million bushels but since then this quantity has been disposed of through trade treaties with Brazil, India and Paraguay.

The corn situation is less favourable as export shipments to date are few. The United States Occupational Forces in Germany have discontinued their purchases, which took place at the end of 1947 and amounted to 7.8 million bushels, and prospective buyers are not willing to pay the high price asked for the unsold surplus of approximately 117 million bushels.

HARDY APPLE TREES WITHSTAND WINTER

Canadian pomologists—experts in the cultivation of fruit trees—are growing new varieties of apple trees which they expect will help commercial growers battle winter kill in Canadian orchards and which will have, in the process, the added effect of pushing farther north the boundaries of Canada's apple-growing areas.

Commercial growers have good reason to dread the severity of Canadian winters. Damage done by the winter of 1933-34 to orchards in Ontario and Quebec resulted in a production drop of more than a million barrels. That meant a financial loss of over $2,000,000.

Slow and painstaking, the search for better varieties has been going on in Canada for more than 25 years and the major research activity is being carried on by the Horticultural Division, Central experimental Farm, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

In addition to the varieties of apple trees which have been growing in Canada for about 100 years, the search for hardy, frost-resistant stock was extended to include English and Russian varieties.

The English varieties came from Britain's East Malling Experimental Station. The East Malling stocks were generally found to be too tender to endure the rigours of Canadian winters. The snow cover on tree roots in eastern Ontario and Quebec orchards is frequently blown away during the winter. Duplicating this condition for experimental purposes, snow cover was removed systematically from tree roots at the Central Farm by the pomologists and the East Malling stocks suffered every time.

But the East Malling varieties did not have value in other ways. McIntosh budged, or grafted, on to East Malling No. 9 produced a very small tree of good vigour with a yield of 40 plus apples at five years of age. The yield built up to 15 gallons of apples at twelve years.

McIntosh budged on East Malling No. 12 produced a much more vigorous tree. At five years of age the trunk of this combination had a cross-section area four times that of the number one combination, but it yielded 3 apples. However, by the time the number two combination was twelve years old, the yield had shot up to 35 gallons, as compared with 15 from number one, and the cross-section trunk area was nearly seven times as great.

The lesson learned from these observations was that the more vigorous the growth the later the tree is in coming into bearing, but that once it does begin to bear the late-bearing variety outyields the earlier one.

But the tenderness of the East Malling stocks made them of little value in the search for hardier varieties and the pomologists turned their attention to the Russian stocks which had been in Canada for some time.

Russian varieties produce poor quality fruits by Canadian standards. They have coarse flesh, high acidity and lack taste appeal. But it was found that when Canadian varieties were grafted on to Russian root stocks the resultant fruit was as appetizing as could be desired.

More than that, it was found that McIntosh budged on the hardest Russian varieties—Elberta, Anis, Antonovka, Chardamoff—developed into a tree that was highly frost-resistant and that was commercially acceptable. Moreover, Russian varieties were shown to be practically immune to collar rot, a disease that plagues eastern Canadian orchards.
